The MEGAVOICE Field Production System

Whether you are at your home office or up the Amazon, the new MEGAVOICE field production system gives you complete control of your audio production from message creation to on-location loading and distribution of your NGP and FM Ambassador audio players. At the heart of the MEGAVOICE field production system is the revolutionary Scribe II.

Scribe II the secure messaging solution for your organization

When it comes to field operations, the Scribe II is more discreet than any laptop. Imagine transferring several Scripture messages from your computer to your Scribe II at the office. You store the laptop and hand the Scribe II to one of your team members. He puts it in his backpack and bikes to a remote village. A second team member carrying blank NGP Ambassador audio players travels a different route. They meet a half mile short of the village and quickly load several Ambassadors using the Scribe II. Other workers distribute the players. Your laptop is secure, your team is safer, when you use the Scribe II.

Load the Scripture messages you have created onto your NGP or FM Ambassadors in three easy steps, using your PC, the MEGAVOICE nScribe software, and the Scribe II portable Scripture message library.

1. Create your audio message file using your computer.
2. Install the MEGAVOICE nScribe software on your computer and use it to organize player navigation, compress your audio messages, and select FM frequencies. Use the provided USB cable to transfer your Scripture message to the Scribe II. You are now ready to load your Ambassadors using the Scribe II.

3. Connect your Scribe II to your NGP Ambassador or FM Ambassador using the provided cable. Select a Scripture message from the Scribe II menu and upload to an Ambassador.

Your Ambassadors are now loaded and ready to distribute.
